

WHAT I do

Remove as many stresses from the body as possible to allow complete communication between brain and cells of the body

HOW I do what I do

By removing any physical, chemical and mental interruptions in communication between brain and cells of the body

WHY I do what I do

To allow the brain to communicate freely with every cell of the body to create the highest level of health possible